JAPANESE FESTIVAL OF THE CHRYSANTHEMUM TO BE STAGED HERE

Community Festival of Kiku Matsuri To Be Arranged for Presentation Early In October

Representatives of improvement and service clubs, other organizations and civic leaders are to be invited to attend a dinner at the Cafe De Paris next Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, when plans for holding the "Kiku Matsuri" (Chrysanthemum Festival) in Redwood City during the early part of October will be outined. Arrangements for the dinner are in the hands of the publicity and pageant committee of the Chamber of Commerce of which Carroll D. Hall is chairman.

For the past month this committee has been meeting and studying the matter and has now reached the stage where it is ready to sumbit its finding to the Chamber of Commerec under whose auspices the Kiku Matsuri is to be held. President Henry Witte of the Chamber of Commerce will preside at the dinner meeting Wednesday night.

William H. Moulthrop, a resident of Redwood City, who has wide experience in work of this kind, has been chosen as general director of the Kiku Matsuri. Howard I. Wood is secretary of the committee and Sam H. Winklebleck is publicity director. Other members of the committee are Thomas Kane, J. D. Hedge and John Isaac. Other committeemen and chairmen will be appointed later.

The proposed celebration, the date of which has been tentatively set for October 10, is based on the famous Oriental festival, Kiku Matsuri, which is celebrated in Japan each year and which is attended by thousands of people from all parts of the Cherry Blossom country. Redwood City is now known as the chrysanthemum center of the United States and it is one of the leading industries of San Mateo county.

San Mateo county flowers are known throughout the nation, and are always in demand when the finest blooms are required at special occasions. The historic All-Saints' Day festival and madri gras which takes place in New Orleans shortly is one of the largest single users of San Mateo county grown chrysanthemums.

San Mateo county is accounted one of the finest locations in the world for the culture of this particular flower, which was introduced here from Japan. The large blooms so much in demand at the New Orleans festival form only a part of the chrysanthemum crop of this county. All types of blooms from tiny buttons smaller than a copper cent to some of six and seven inches in diameter are grown. These flowers find many and varied uses in decorations and are much used by San Francisco's picturesque street flower venders.

In 1884, the chrysanthemums were first introduced to America, through the tireless efforts of Kan Yoshiike an ardent Japanese student of Floriculture. In those trying days, the types of these flowers best suited for commercial purposes were yet unknown and Yoshiike, in his humble little greenhouse in Oakdand, California, hopefully experimented and nursed along different varities, unaware that many of them were destined to later become revelations to the Folwer Industry.

It may truthfully be said that the contributions of Yoshiike's wisdom and superhuman efforts are apparent in the many inproved varieties of the present day. A contemporary of Yoshiike, Kanetora Domoto, was the first to follow him in growing Chrysanthemums under glass. A pioneer among Japanese Nursehymen in America, Domoto contributed greatly toward the success of the Chrysanthemum Growing Industry in California.

In 1904, cheesecloth cultivation of Chrysanthemums was originated and introduced by H. L. Goertzhain in Redwood City, California. This method was at once recognized as superior to that theretofore employed by Yoshiike and Domoto. The flowers by his method of growing were given the benefit of nature's most invigorating gestures and became hardier, more durable and richer in their coloring. Growing under cheesecloth has proven to be an ingenious method of utilizing to the fullest extent the powers of nature.

In 1907 the Enomoto Brothers began an extensive cultivation of chrysanthemums under cheesecloth in Redwood City, for the sole purpose of starting a shipping business. At that time, shipments of these flowers were confined to local points only. Lack of transportation facilities and the Growers' sense of caution had kept the chrysanthemum shipping business from developing, until the year 1913, when Sadakusu Enomoto astonished the Flower World by making a successful shipment of carloads of Turner Mums to New Orleans for their historic All Saints' Day observance. The fact that this shipment was made without refrigeration makes the success more remarkable and stamps it as an unforgetable kind act of Providence. By 1915, regular markets for chrysanthemums were found in the Middle West, and several years later eastern cities were proving themselves consistant consumers of these beautiful California flowers.

San Mateo county is accredited as being the outstanding flower county of California and during the period of the last state fair, the San Mateo county exhibit was awarded nine first prizes and one second prize. In the point system used to grade the various exhibits, the county received 20 points. Its nearest competitor was Napa county with 8 points. The county was awarded the sweepstakes awarded for flowers and was given the feature exhibit cup as well as the ten individual awards. Of the awards for flowers the county received $230 of the $410 offered in prize money.

In recognition of this important industry the Chrysanthemum festival was inaugurated, at which time several thousand visitors were entertained with a picturesque Japanese program on the Hogan ranch near Woodside. At that time the florists' association was holding a national convention in San Francisco, and delegates to this convention were entertained here. The idea proved very attractive and capable of much picturesque development.

Postpone Date Of Harbor Meet

The hearing before the district engineer of the Harbors and Rivers Committee on the application of Redwood City for the further dredging and improving of its harbor, scheduled for May 26 at the city hall, has been postponed to July 15, according to announcement made yesterday by Howard I. Wood, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce.

The postponement was ordered in order that the meeting might be held before Colonel Fitch of Los Angeles, who has just been named district engineer for the San Francisco district to succeed Colonel Thomas, who was temporarily filling the position. Colonel Fitch will take over his new duties the early part of July. The postponement was consented to by the city council and by H. W. Crozier, the consulting engineer employed by the city to make the harbor survey and present the case of the municipality at the hearing.

Pedestrian Hit By Motor Truck

As he was walking west on the tannery road near where the bridge is being constructed to carry the Bay Shore highway across Redwood creek, James Kelly, of Blenheim street, this city, was struck by a piece of board projecting from a truck which passed him. The truck was driven by J. S. Pulzel, an employee of the Bodenhammer Construction Co., the concern which is building the bridge.

Kelly was knocked down by the timber, and was taken by the truck driver to the office of Dr. H. A. Clattenburg. It is reported that he was not seriously injured by the accident. The accident was reported to Sergeant Stanley Wood of the Redwood City police department.

City To Consider Purchase of Site For Proposed Jail

Report On Appraisement For Coastside Site To Be Given Monday

Whether or not the City and County of San Francisco will purchase the Cassinelli ranch a short distance south of Halfmoon Bay as the site of the proposed new San Francisco jail for a price of $95,000 depends upon the report which an appraisal officer of San Francisco renders to the board of supervisors of that city on Monday. The jail site committee which has been investigating the various sites in this county this week recommended the purchase of this tract.

Action on the recommendation was taken under advisement by the board, when it was revealed by Supervisor Frank R. Havenner that there has been no appraisal of the property. It is valued by the owners at $95,000 and is twenty-eight miles south of San Francisco, the board was told.

The recommendation was in three parts: A resolution asking San Mateo county supervisors to approve the site, an ordinance for selling $100,000 worth of the $850,000 jail bond issue, and another ordinance directing the board of works to prepare plans.

The San Francisco board will hear an appraisal report on the ranch next Monday by Joseph J. Phillips, city right of way agent, and an opinion by City Attorney John J. O'Toole on the city's status in establishing a jail outside of San Francisco. Sheriff William J. Fitzgerald is also slated to tell the board how he proposes to operate the institution.

The Cassinelli ranch, the old Johnston property, was selected out of six tentaitve sites selected by the committee. Of the six, the San Mateo county supervisors disapproved of two, one on Pillar Point and one at Salada Beach.

TO SEEK NEW TRIAL ON VALUE OF OCEAN SHORE HIGHWAY RIGHT OF WAY

Joint Highway Committee Seeks Lower Price for Land of Ocean Shore. R R. In Condemnation Action

There is still a possibility that the joint highway district may purchase the right of way of the Ocean Shore Railroad Company's property. Next Tuesday Judge Maurice Dooling will hear an application by the joint highway district comprising the counties of San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Cruz, for a new trial in the condemnation action of the highway district against the Ocean Shore Company.

From the first inception of the idea of constructing a coastside highway from San Francisco to Santa Cruz, the right of way of the now abandoned Ocean Shore railway was considered as the logical site for the highway around the Montara mountains. When the time came, however, for the purchase of the right of way, the railway company asked a price which the directors of the joint highway believed to be exhoritant.

A condemnation suit was started in the superior court of this county, and was heard before Judge Maurice Dooling of San Jose. Judge Dooling brought in a judgment to the effect that the highway district should pay $100,000 for the right of way. This, the directors of the road district believed to be far too much, and plans were considered for constructing the highway over another right of way.

It was later reported that the railway company had reconsidered its action and was willing to meet with the directors of the joint highway district and agree upon a suitable price. Apparently nothing has come of the matter, however, and the directors have decided to make a last effort to have the court fix a lower valuation on the holdings.

The proposed highway would follow the contour of the coastline from San Francisco to Santa Cruz, over the graded right of way of the railroad around Pedro mountain and using the tunnel of the old railroad for a cut through Pedro Point. The road is considered a vital necessity to the future of the coastside section, and great disappointment was expressed among the people of that section when the first negotiations failed to effect an agreement.

Failure of the court to fix a lower price on the holdings of the railway company, it is thought, may delay for years the construction of this important artery of travel.

Supervisor Manuel Francis, representative of the coastside section, has been an ardent worker for the coastside road. He estimates that the construction of another grade around the mountain would make the cost of the road prohibitive.

Recently when the San Francisco jail site came up, Francis told how he was opposed to locating the jail north of Halfmoon Bay because he thought having the institution south of Halfmoon Bay might help convince the city how badly his community needed a better thoroughfare into San Francisco.

Francis accused the city of breaking faith with the county and particularly the coastside, on the Ocean Shore boulevard project. He told how the city supervisors had promised to donate $100,000 toward the boulevard if the county would defeat the Candlestick bridge. He said, too, that the city officials said that the Pedro mountain site would be procured for the highway without cost.

Instead, Francis charged, the city has been indifferent about the highway and instead of securing the site for nothing the district has been involved in costly litigation, and in addition has had the price of the right-of-way put almost out of reach.

The road, if built, will be financed by the three counties, and will be one of the finest scenic routes of the state. It will also solve the transportation problem of the coastside, which can now be reached only by crossing high mountains on a winding and dangerous road.

CITY MANAGER GIVES RESUME OF WORK UNDER PRESENT CITY CHARTER

Framers of Charter Meet For Anniversary Dinner

The group of freeholders who were responsible for Redwood City's successful charter, with their wives or husbands, gathered at Woods Tavern on the highway Wednesday evening for their third annual dinner. Mark E. Ryan, chairman of the freeholders' body, acted as toastmaster and responses were made by each of the freeholders present, as well as by City Manager E. A. Rolison and Carroll D. Hall and J. D. Hedge of the press.

A bright future was predicted for Redwood City by all of the speakers. Chairman Ryan, who is chief of the fire department, and others spoke on the work of the organization. City Councilman Paul A. McCarthy told of the progress made in the city recreational and park program, Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn explained the work being done in Girl Scout activities and A. S. Liguori outlined the Boy Scout work here. Carroll D. Hall explained the plans for holding the Kiku Matsuri or Chrysanthemum Festival in October and invited those present to attend the dinner meeting at the Cafe de Paris on Wednesday evening in the interest of the coming event.

It was the feeling of all that the new charter form of government had proven a success and City Manager E. A. Rolison and the members of the city council came in for considerable commendation for their able administration of the affairs of the city.

In commenting upon the results and accomplishments of the charter at the dinner Wednesday night, City Manager Rolison said:

"As we all know our present form of city government was created by a board of fifteen freeholders consisting of those present who were elected at a special election held on the 15th day of November, 1928, and who after drafting the present charter submitted the same to the electors for ratification and adoption on the 9th day of the following April, at which time it was approved and later became effective on July 1st, 1929.

"At this time the present form of government has been in effect for approximately one year and ten months and since you were its creators it is quite natural that you are concerned in the results obtained through your efforts. Therefore, to me it seems appropriate at this time and place to discuss in a general way some of the results obtained and possibly offer suggestions that may be helpful in adding to its success in the future.

"While the past year or so nas been marked with a financial stress that has reflected in city as well as private business, and while the demands of the public for bigger and better things in the way of public improvements have gone continually onward and upward regardless of these conditions, the willingness and ability of the public to pay for some time past has been on a decided decline. For this reason possibly some of the accomplisments originally anticipated have not been carried out in the manner intended. However, an honest effort is being made to advance and improve with the times whenever the cost under the present conditions and circumstances can be justified and plan for the future those things which in our judgment at this time cannot be undertaken.

Possibly some of the things accomplished has been the addition of better facilities and equipment in connection with the street and several other departments which could not possibly render efficient and satisfactory public service without these improvemnts. In addition to this a new corporation yard has been acquired and put into operation. This makes it possible to keep a proper account of materials and supplies as well as shelter all city equipment in connection with which the city maintains a shop department for the repair and maintenance of all city equipment, testing of water meters, etc.

No Trace Found Of Boat Awash Off Coastside

No Information Concerning Sunken Craft So Far Obtainable

The report by radio from the S. S. Dorothy Alexander that a 25-foot sailing yacht was sighted about five miles off Pedro Point apparently deserted and with her decks awash caused coast guards and fishing boats this week to conduct a search for the derelict. No trace of the boat has been found, however, and a check-up of the yacht clubs has failed to show any such craft missing.

Last week the body of a man was washed ashore near Pedro Point, and no identification has been made. It is thought possible that the man may have been from the sunken sail boat.

Auto Deaths in State Claim 7 Persons Daily

Larger State Traffic Patrol Proposed To Curb Big Accident Toll

By RUSSELL D. PENNYCOOK

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 4 (UP) —Seven deaths a day.

Such is the toll of life in California taken by the most popular machine of a "machine age"—the automobile.

Reports of the division of motor vehicles of the state show that a total of 2,384 persons lost their lives in automobile accidents during the year 1930, an increase over the 2,244 persons killed in 1929.

Included in the total were 61 residents of San Mateo county.

"In an effort to decrease the number of automobile accidents and the resulting injuries and fatalities the California highway patrol has been built up to a high degree of efficiency," declares E. Raymond Cato, superintendent of the state highway patrol.

"Courteous education of the automobile driver and constant supervision of the highways by the patrol is the contribution of the state of California towards safety.

"Realizing the value of the members of the patrol to the automobile driver, officials of the state and legislators plan to increase the number of the patrol from 400 to 700 officers. If the present patrol is successful in preventing a great number of accidents, then a larger patrol will lessen to a greater degree the injuries and fatalities," Cato said.

To provide money for the expense of the additional members an amendment has been introduced to the motor vehicle act now before the legislature which would add to the revenue of the motor vehicle department approximately $1,500,000. The amendment provides that an operators license shall be renewed every two years and that the fee for renewal shall be two dollars.

In reviewing the automobile accidents of the state the division of motor vehicles finds four fundamental factors which underlie the range of motor accidents.

First, the degree of responsibility exercised by the driver and pedestrian; second the vehicle and its condition; third the roadway—its fitness and character; and fourth, regulation for use of the roadway.

Bay Shore Road Traffic Opened Here Yesterday

Governor Rolh, Highway Commissioners, Engineers To Assist At Official Opening Next Thursday

The new unit of the Bay Shore boulevard connecting Redwood City at Washington street and San Mateo at Third street was opened for traffic by the state highway commission yesterday, and immediately the flow of traffic began to traverse the new artery. The road is open at Washington street, but barriers have been erected at other streets temporarily.

The road is well finished and proved very popular as soon as opened to traffic. Signs are being erected at the present time by the California Automobile Association.

As the traffic from the new road is diverted into Washington street, Chief of Police Collins has requested that persons parking cars on that street park them parallel with the curb so as not to obstruct the street any more than is necessary.

The new road will be officially opened on May 14, when Governor James Rolph will cut a silk ribbon and dedicate the new sector of road to public use. The occasion will be made a gala day in this city. A banquet will be served at Emerald Lake Casino to Governor Rolph and his staff, supervisors of San Mateo county and San Francisco, city officials and chamber of commerce officials of the peninsula and members of the Redwood City chamber of commerce. Among the state officials who are expected to accompany Governor Rolph are C. H. Purcell, state highway engineer; Walter E. Garrison, director of public works, and the following members of the state highway commission: Earl Lee Kelly, of Redding; Harry A. Hopkins, of Taft; Timothy A. Reardon, San Francisco; Philip A. Stanton, Anaheim; and Frank A. Tetley ,Riverside.

During the ceremonies of opening the road the schools of the city will be closed. Following the banquet the state officials and county and chamber of commerce officials will be taken to the site of the opening on the Bay Shore road between Washington and Webster streets. They will be followed from the high school corner by the high school band and the high and grammar school children in procession. Mayor Dan R. Stafford of Redwood City will act as chairman of the day.

Bus Line Starts To Emerald Lake From S. P. Station

T. J. Henderson Inaugurates Daily Bus Service This Morning

A bus line conecting Redwood City, Emerald Lake and the Canyon Sanitorium will be inaugurated today by T. J. Henderson. Henderson will make 13 trips each way between Emerald Lake and the Southern Pacific station in Redwood City. Service will begin with a trip to the lake starting at 6:30, and will be continued throughout the day until 6:20 in the evening, when the last trip from the lake will be made. The terminus at Emerald Lake will be at the lower lake. Three trips a day will be made to Canyon Sanitorium.

A permit for the operation of the bus line on this schedule was received by Henderson this week from the California railroad commission.

Contest Looms in W. J. Savage Will

A contest of the will of W. J. Savage, deceased, loomed yesterday when the instrument was offered for probate in the superior court by Attorney Clay, who is also executor of the estate. Attorney Schultz representing R. Savage Vallejo nephew of the decedent, opposed the introduction of the will intimating that a contest may be filed. He explained that the codicil to the will was not signed by the deceased and therefore was invalid. He said that the heirs were in communication with him and offered a compromise of $15,000 and that the matter may be settled. The attorney claimed one fourth of the estate for his client.

Savage executed a will many years ago providing for his aged father, sisters and brothers. Later a sister, Mrs. Vallejo, died leaving a son, Robert. The father also passed away. In a postscript or codicil to the will the decedent declared that his responsibility to his father ceased and that his nephew should not succeed to the interest of his mother in the estate, but urged his two brothers and sister to provide for the young man.

The estate is valued at $112,000. It is more than likely an agreement will be reached. The nephew, Robert is 31 years old and resided with his uncle until a short time before his death.

STATE SUPREME COURT GIVES AUTO VERDICT

The Supreme Court last Monday rendered its decision in the case of Lesley Tudhope vs. George Drais affirming Judge Buck's decision a year and a half ago. The principle involved was whether or not the driver of the automobile while under the influence of liquor, avoided the conditions of the insurance policy. The company refused to pay the judgment of $3,000 rendered by Judge Buck. Suit was started against the company here, Judge Buck holding that the company was liable under its policy. The company appealed to the Appellate Court from Judge Buck's decision and about three months ago that tribunal reversed Judge Buck on certain rulings during the trial. The attornevs for Miss Tudhope took the case to the Supreme Court which unanimously decided last Monday that Judge Buck was right.

This is a pioneer case and settles for all time the liabilities of the insurance company. J. A. Maguire and Jas. T. O'Keefe represented Miss Tudhope, and J. E. McCurdy represented the Zurich Insurance Co.

Industrial Merger To Affect Plant in San Mateo County

The merger was announced this week of the West Coast Percelain Co. whose plant is at Millbrae, and the Sunset Plumbing Fixtures Inc., of Los Angeles. The merger involves an investment of about $2,000,000. It is reported that the merger will include the enlargement of the plant at Millbrae and the employment of a large force of men.

The West Coast Porcelain Co has been operating its plant at Millbrae since 1918, manufacturing plumbing and procelain. Moritz Thompson, president of this concern will become chairman of the board of directors of the united concern, and Adolph Ramish, president of the Sunset company, will become president of the new organization.

Advertise Redwood

It appears to the writer that all this fuss about changing the name of Redwood City is not only unnecessary but very harmful to this city. The present name has served this city for almost eighty years, and during that time has become widely and favorably known. The name Redwood City has received much favorable advertising through many and varied sources, and is even now reaping the benefit from some of this publicity.

If the name does not fit the town now, as some few maintain, for the reason that there are no redwood trees here, then it is up to the people of this section to re-plant such trees.

Redwood trees formerly flourished here just as they now do at Woodside, Portola, and other near-by places. However, it was not from the trees that Redwood City received its name, but from the great quantities of redwood lumber which was shipped from here in the early days of California.

Redwood City has a name of which it may be proud, a name with an interesting historical back-ground. Any other name would have to be publicized for years to attain the position that Redwood City holds. Instead of aggitating for a change of name, public spirited citizens could assist in identifying the present name with that interesting tree. The city is already working toward the end that every city park shall contain one or more redwood trees. We believe that if it were properly presented, the Southern Pacific would be glad to plant a redwood tree or two in its park space around the station, or in its vacant property across the tracks where the old cypress trees are now dying out.

Redwood trees should be planted in all school yards, where they are not now growing, and individuals could assist in this tying-in plan by planting redwoods in their front yards.

One of the things which most interests easterners when they come to California is the redwood tree. They have seen the wood and heard of the tree, but few of them have seen it growing. Let's have plenty of trees to show visitors to Redwood City.

Bar the Dangerous Driver

During 1930, 32,500 people were killed in automobile accidents, as compared with 31,215 in 1929. During 1930, 12,600,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed, as compared with 14,000,000,000 in 1929. In other words, automobile fatalities increased over 4 per cent while the use of gasoline decreased 10 per cent. The conclusion is that each year the highways grow more dangerous.

This may be laid to a multitude of reasons. Car speeds are increasing. Highways are inadequate for modern, congested, fast moving traffic. Thousands of people now operating cars are temperamentally or physically unfit.

Drivers who are careless and incompetent cause our gigantic death record to climb. They are a menace to lives and property. This state shoud take steps to make driving on our highways reasonably safe.

Have you ever noticed how many automobile trucks figure in highway accidents? If you haven't you have overlooked one of the strongest arguments yet advanced for stringent regulatory laws.

Dogs spend half the night barking at imaginery dangers. Yet when morning comes, they greatly to the disappointment of the neighbors, have not been harmed, no danger has threatened them. Men act that way through the day; they are always barking at some imaginery thing.

Silence is the element in which great things fashion themselves together; that at length they may emerge, full-formed and majestic, into the daylight of life, which they are thenceforth to rule.—Carlyle.

All over the world city men are telling the farmers how to farm, and all the world over farmers are telling the city men how to do business. The world would not be any poorer if "every cobbler would stick to his last."

One of the causes of the present depression is that it is necessary to fire so many $50-a-week men in order that the president of the company can still draw down his twenty thousand a year.

A lot of complaint is heard about the newspapers publishing so much crime news. Perhaps they do publish a lot of it. The papers are so full of other interesting matter that you don't have to read the crime news unless you have a desire. Come to think of it, we can dig up some very nice crime yarns out of the Bible. The better news far overshadows it, however. One usually finds what he is looking for.

A Perculiar Perspective

Some few years ago when this country was engaged in a war with Germany a hysterical brand of patriotism ran riot. Any one who opposed war or criticized the actions of the government was considered a traitor. Many good American citizens whose moral scruples would not allow them to engage in the human butchery which war entailed were cast into prison and treated as enemies of their country. We remember when a great man and true American educator, David Starr Jordan, was hissed out of a meeting in Palo Alto by university students because he was an advocate of peace, and opposed to the barbarities of war. That was a little more than a decade ago.

Now we read that a celebration is being planned in San Francisco for a German captain. Why? Because he smuggled arms into Ireland to incite a revolution there against a friendly and allied nation and in this manner to help incapacitate Great Britain's army which was fighting to hold the German invasion in check on the Western Front.

We do not hold any grudge against the German people, and believe that the bitterness of the war should be forgotten. But we think it is very poor taste that any celebration should be held in this country for the acts of a man who as captain of a German battleship strove to scuttle the ships which carried our boys across the ocean. We are sending the Gold Star Mothers to France to visit the graves of their sons who fell in the fields of France and Belgium. But what about the mothers of the boys whose bones lie at the bottom of the Atlantic? For these we can offer a celebration to the German captain whose forces helped to put them there.

The idea is distasteful to an American, and the fact that San Francisco's board of supervisors, who are not noted for having had Mayflower ancestors, has lent the matter at least semi-official favor is even more so.

Cleaning Up, Painting Up

This community in looking for ways of expressing civic pride can find no better vehicle than a real campaign of "clean up, paint up." This is the time of the year when one's thoughts naturally travel along such lines. Following a winter one likes to get rid of ashes, old leaves and such rubbish and substitute clean yards, freshly painted houses, garages, fences, etc.

A community is judged by its appearance. A stranger likes the looks of a clean, neat town and forms a dislike for a town that is not clean and neat in appearance. For this reason it is desired that this community keep up its appearance. Individuals are told that their appearance is their best asset. The same applies to a community.

To make and keep this community clean requires the co-operation of every individual. Because of this it is hoped that every one will do his or her part in making Redwood City inviting in appearance to the strangers who pass through here this summer and to our people who live here. Having cleaned up and painted up, the thing to do is to keep it up.

Graduation Time

Graduation from a school or college is one of the great turning points of life. It marks a tremenduous change. Previously the student has been protected from the world's harder shocks by the shelter of home and school. Now one has to go out in the world and take its hard knocks.

But such is the hopefulness of youth, that these young people view the future with abundant confidence. They have reason to do so. The fact that they have passed the requirements of a standard educational institution and have made good in the face of difficulties, suggests that they will be able to do so in the new tests to come.

Living As Cheap As Our Ancestors

It is still possible to live as cheaply as our ancestors did. All you have to do is to go to the mountain country, get yourself a one or two room cabin, heat it with an old iron stove or a fire place, eat salt meat in winter and vegetables grown in your own back yard in summer. Of course you can't have an automobile or a radio, or even a bath tub, but neither could your ancestors.

Your Obligation to This Community

People very frequently refuse to work in community organizations because they feel their time is too valuable. Leaving aside their obligation to take a reasonable share in the work of the community, these people forfeit great personal advantages.

The persons who serve in community organizations make many friends. If they go into politics, these friends help them obtain votes. If they are in business, these friends bring in trade. If they are wage earners, these friends help them advance in their occupation. Carrying on organization work is useful training and it helps anyone to obtain success in any line of work.

Science and education have been spread until they are the universal tools of the common man. They have brought to him the touch of a thousand finer things of life. They have enlarged the horizon of our vision into the inspiring works of God.—President Hoover.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND CHARACTERS

SHEILA ALLEN, bound for Europe in a tourist cabin, has a cabinmate.

CONSTANCE KERR, a millionaire's daughter, who is her twin in looks. Sheila, after years in a rural town, is seeking adventure.

She has refused to marry her guardian, YOUNG DOCTOR MALCOM BAXTER. Constance tells Sheila she is Heaven-sent-a means of escape from a terrible mess.

Constance is fleeing from her husband, THE COUNT DE BELLEFONTE, whom she married that morning.

She consented to marry him after a quarrel with HARRY EDMONDS, with whom she is desperately in love.

His letters begging her forgiveness are kept from her by her mother. She finds them immediately after her marriage. Realizing that she can never be the Count's wife, she takes passage for Europe at once. Harry is in England.

She begs Sheila to impersonate her in Paris for a few days, while she seeks Harry in London, to try to find a way out of her muddle.

Sheila, scenting adventure agrees.

Constance gives Sheila her clothes and coaches her for the role she is to play. A first-class passenger.

TOMMY FITZGERALD, an old beau of Constance's, sees Sheila and hails her as Constance. Sheila tells him he has made a mistake.

Chapter 9.

The Die Is Cast

When they were one night out of Southampton, Constance, who had been almost feverishly excited all day, suddenly experienced doubt as to the wisdom of her course.

"Suppose I'm going on a fool's errand!" she wailed to Sheila. "Suppose Harry doesn't care any more! Or became so discouraged when he didn't hear from me that he went and engaged himself to Julia Berton. She'd take him like a shot."

What was really frightening her more than anything else was the thought that the Count de Bellefonte, if he had taken a fast boat, might have had the idea of leaving the ship at Southampton also. A fast boat had passed the Macedonia two days before, and Constance had a feeling that the Count was on it. It couldn't have taken him very long to guess that something was wrong, when she didn't put in an appearance at the hotel, as she had promised. He'd suspect that she had left for Europe and he would find some means of verifying his suspicions, she felt sure.

So, although arrival at Southampton brought her nearer to Harry Edmonds, Constance couldn't quiet her fears. She gave Sheila a last drill and was satisfied with the result.

"You'll be all right," she conceded. "And, if you are careful about answering questions, you'll get by—and so will I."

She had previously given Sheila the names of people she knew intimately, and a few facts about each person. "Not that you'll need the dope. There's only one chance in a hundred that you'll run across any of them in the couple of days before I arrive. But even one chance in a hundred may fail, so you'd better be prepared."

"But I won't know any of these people by sight, and how will I be able to attach the right name to the person who may claim to know me? Sheila had protested.

"Pretend not to see anybody, unless they actually grab you, and then fish around until you get the name," was Constance's careless response. She was re-reading Harry Edmond's love-letters, and her air was thoroughly abstracted. "Anyway, you'd better not go out. You can have your meals served in your room at the hotel."

Sheila reflected that this adventure, piquant as it seemed on the surface, was depriving her of a good deal of liberty and enjoyment.

On the last night, Constance, for the first time in her life, endeavored to pack. After three false starts, she gave up in despair. Sheila came to the rescue and offered to play maid for the spoiled darling of fortune, and Constance escaped to the deck to take her last solitary walk.

But it was destined not to be as solitary as usual. She thought the deck was deserted, so she threw back the scarf that was wound about her hair and let the fresh breeze blow on her face. At her second turn, she jumped and barely suppressed a scream, for a masculine hand touched her arm. She looked up, ready to annihilate with a glance the bold creature who dared take such a liberty.

"What are you doing this for, Constance?" asked Tommy Fitzgerald.

She recovered her breath with difficulty. "You are making a mistake," she said. "I do not know you."

"But I know you," he insisted. "That first day I wasn't sure, when I met you on the upper deck, but tonight I saw you clearly in the moonlight, and I guess I know Constance Kerr, even after all these years."

Constance made an impatient gesture.

"This is really very annoying. My name is Sheila Allen. I am not this — this other person you speak of."

"But Constance——"

"I don't know you." Her voice was cutting. "Nor have I any desire to know you. Why do you persist in annoying me?"

"I beg your pardon." He made a deep bow. "I didn't think I could be mistaken, but——"

He went away. She hoped he was convinced, but she wasn't sure. Above all, she must avoid encountering him when she left the ship at Southampton in the morning. If he went on to Harve, well and good. If he didn't — Well, she reflected, she had enough troubles, without borrowing more.

She told Sheila later what had happened. "If he goes on to Harve, you are almost certain to meet him on the pier. You must pretend that it was all a joke — that you simply wanted to have some fun with him. And, if he wants to know what Constance Kerr was doing in a tourist cabin, as, of course, he will, say that you did it on a bet, and that one of the conditions was that you wouldn't give away your identity to a soul."

After that, Constance went to bed, but not to sleep, and early in the morning she was up, having her bath and breakfast. Sheila opened sleepy eyes later to gasp with admiration at Constance's proficiency in the role of herself, Sheila Allen. The blue tailored suit clothed the body that was accustomed to the finest Paris raiment. The blue cloche hat framed a face innocent of rouge, as Sheila's had been. It seemed to Sheila that it was herself who stood there, regarding her with a faint, ironical smile. She had the horrid sensation of being lost from her own body.

"Don't come on deck to see me off," Constance bade her briskly. "It's your turn now to be cabin-bound until you see the dock at Harve."

She suddenly kissed Sheila with real affection.

"Wish me luck! I'll meet you in three days — a week, at the most —in Paris. . . .And I'll never forget what you're doing for me."

She was gone, and Sheila lay in her berth, staring at the ceiling. Sheila Allen had vanished. There remained only Constance Kerr and a ticklish game to be played out.

ALLY CAT STAYS AT POST

MEMPHIS, (UP)—A stray alley cat which became the pet of grocery clerks here evaded them for ten days, after the store was closed and refused to leave the empty building. The cat apparently was none the worse for its voluntary imprisonment.

400 Coaching Grads Employed

URBANA, Ill. (UP)—More than 400 graduates of the University of Illinois coaching school are employed as coaches or physical directors in 42 states of the union, according to George Huff, director of athletics. Illinois, Huff said, leads in the number of schools having coaches graduated from the state university.

FREED

Charles W. Peter (lower) prominent Salt Lake City mining man, although freed at a preliminary examination Tuesday on charges of murdering Mrs. Dorothy Dexter Meermeister 14 months ago, faces possible re-arrest within 10 days, according to Salt Lake authorities. The charge was dismissed when the prosecution failed to present witnesses and the court refused to hold Peter until the witnesses were produced.

MENLO PARK

The remains of Fred Macondray, who died in 1882 at the age of 43, and was interred in Calvary cemetery, San Francisco, were brought here last week and placed in the Macondray plot in Holy Cross cemetery. The deceased played an important part in the early history of San Francisco. He was prominent in the affairs of the vigilantes in 1856. He was the first merchant to import tea from China, establishing the Macondray Company in the early sixties. The concern is still in existence and bears his name Macondray at an early date married Miss Elena Atherton, the charming and pretty daughter of Faxon D. Atherton, the founder of the City of Atherton. Many children were born to the couple. The eldest son, Fred, was among the first Californians to establish a business at Manila after the Philippines were taken over by the government in 1898. He passed away many years ago.

Constable Jack Grill sought the lagoon at Pescadero on the opening of the trout season, catching the limit in speckled beauties, weighing two pounds each. Grill reports a good run of fish at the lagoon at present.

Bishop Gorman, the new bishop just appointed by the Holy See, was at one time a student at St. Patrick's Seminary, and was well known here twenty years ago.

The Native Sons of the Golden West will give a Mothers' Night in their hall next Monday evening. A program of interest is to be presented including an address on the subject of mother. All the mothers of the members will be present and a deserving tribute is to be paid them by the parlor.

Chief of Police Love made a raid on the Pastime Pool Hall during the week, arresting a number of young men found gambling. Love is determined to put a stop to all gambling in Menlo Park. More power to his elbow.

Thomas Aylward will leave on May 15 on the Nevadan as quartermaster for New York. He will be permanently employed on this ship that plys between San Francisco and New York. The young man has made numerous voyages and is well acquainted with the sea.

Henry Cowell, Menlo Park's talented musical composer, will depart for Berlin, Germany next September to further extend his musical studies. Mr. Cowell recently won a Guggenheim fellowship in recognition of his international reputation as a composer.

Fred Bauderman has purchased the Brown candy store on Santa Crub avenue, together with the fixtures and stock. He has taken a lease of ten years on the store from Mr. Sutton, the owner of the property. Mr. Bauderman will continue his store on the highway.

Mrs. J. B. Kelly is here from San Francisco on a visit with her niece, who lives here. Mrs. Kelly's daughter, Beth, will be married to a San Francisco businessman next month. She is an unusually pretty and accomplished young lady. She is a graduate of St. Joseph's school here.

The Loughran lot on Oak Grove avenue was sold this week by the McCreery Estate Company to Mr. Curtis of San Francisco. It is said a large business building is to be erected on the property shortly.

Mayor Mat Harris has disposed of his property, consisting of several lots on Pine and Cherry streets, for a good figure. The land is in the area proposed to be improved. Evidently the purchasers were not scared off by the street assessments. They have faith in Menlo Park.

C. E. McPherson, the local undertaker, is confined to the Veterans' hospital with a malady that may keep him for time at the institution. McPherson is a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

James T. O'Keefe, Jr., will receive his A. B. degree from Santa Clara University tomorrow. He graduates with honor. The young man has majored in law and will follow that profession. He contemplates joining forces with his father at Redwood City is the practice of his profession.

A large statue of St. Joseph was placed in the grotto of the Sacred Heart grounds this week, the work being completed yesterday. The beautiful statue was imported from Germany by the people of Menlo Park in honor of Mother Foley, who has been principal of St. Joseph's school for many years and who is held in high esteem by the people of the community, who know the splendid work she is doing and has done for the children of this locality. The statue will be solemnly dedicated with appropriate ceremony shortly, when the friends of Mother Foley will be present to show their appreciation of her noble work.

Last Thursday evening the city council met in special session, a full council was present. By unanimous vote the protests offered by the property owners against the contemplated improvements on Pine and adjacent streets were overruled and rejected.

By a simlar vote the improvements on these streets were abandoned. New plans and specifications for improvements on these streets, including a strip on the lower end of Pine were adopted and a resolution was accepted and order published. May 19 was the time set for hearing protests. It is believed the greater number of those protesting against the former resolution of intention have withdrawn their protests and will stand behind the council in its present plan of streets improvements. The following streets are to improved under the new resolution:

Oak Grove avenue from highway to Laurel—sidewalk, curb and part of street paved, present pavement to be re-surfaced by the city.

Laurel from Oak Grove to Glenwood—sidewalk and curb on one side.

Glenwood from Laurel to Mills, sidewalk and curb on one side.

Mills from Oak Grove to Glenwood, sidewalks and curb on two sides.

Oak Grove from Laurel to City Limits, sidewalk and curb on one side excepting that portion already provided with sidewalk and curb.

Pine street and Cherry street — sidewalg, curb and full width pavement.

Laurel from Ravenswood to Oak Grove, sidewalk and curb, excepting that portion already provided with sidewalk and curb.

A portion of Oak Grove avenue northeast of Laurel street is to be paved opposite the termination of Pine street, and a portion of Laurel street opposite the termination of Cherry avenue is to be paved. In each instance it is for the purpose of carrying the pavement on Pine and Cherry streets out to the existing pavement on the other streets.

Mrs. Marie Bryner, a resident of Menlo Park for some years, passed away at her home on Johnson street, after a brief illness last Saturday. The funeral took place from the Catholic church on Monday. She is survived by her husband and three sons.

Sea Eel Eggs Aid Professor In Brain Study

Boston, May 7 (UP)—A collection of 100 eggs of the bdellostoma (sea eel) is being used at Boston Univerity to study the development of the internal structure of the human brain.

Dr. Leroy Conel, professor of anatomy at B.U. school of medicine, spent every day of last summer collecting the eggs by trawling with 1,200 hooks about two miles off the coast of Monterey, Cal.

The eggs with their embryos represent the lowest living vertebrates in the evolution of the human brain, says Dr. Conel.

The collection is the only one of its kind in existence and is in greater numbers than have ever been found before. The only other collection of this sort was in the possession of the late Dr. Bashford, Dean, curator of fishes in the Natural History Museums, New York City. Dr. Dean was presented with the collection by a Chinese fisherman 30 years ago. The fisherman refused to tell how or where he collected the eggs and on his death his secret perished.

Dr. Conel has devised a fishing system of his own. He plans to go to Nova Scotia in June to search for eggs of Myxine, the bdellostoma's first cousin.

WOODSIDE

The annual May Day community festival held last Friday was one of the most successful ever celebrated in Woodside. The weather had been made to order and there was a profusion of color in the floral decorations and in the costumes of the participants. Miss Lucille John was a dainty Queen of the May and James Wilkie was a gallant Prince Consort. Viola Kelley and Stella Day won the honors of the parade with their prospectors' outfit, reminiscent of the days of '49. Costumes were in charge of Mrs. Leland John, decorations in charge of Mrs. George Shine and Mrs. William Langley, and the parade in charge of Mrs. John D. Gish.

The baseball team made up of volunteer members of the Woodside Fire department maintained its unbroken record of victories last Sunday by defeating a team from San Francisco by the close score of 7 to 6. This coming Sunday they meet a team from the Redwood City Fire department.

The collection of paintings of the California Missions done by the pupils of the Woodside school have been removed from the school where they have received much attention during the past few weeks and will be exhibited in the windows of Lock's drug store, opposite the Court House in Redwood City.

The Parent-Teacher Association held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening inviting the fathers (who are also sometimes classified as parents) to see what the mothers are doing on those days when they are not at home to prepare the family meal.

The ladies of the Woodside church will meet at the home of Miss May Huddart on Friday afternoon to hear the report of Mrs. August Mengler who has served as delegate from the church at two recent conferences and also to listen to a missionary talk by Mrs. Richards of Saratoga.

The Woodside Fire Commission, at its meeting this week, arranged for the installation of fire hydrants in Woodside Heights for the better protection of that section that has recently became a part of the Woodside Fire District by annexation.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Hale, who have been occupying their home here for the past few weeks, are planning to leave soon for their mountain place in Siskiyou county where they will spend the summer.

Disarmament Is Business Need, States Hoover

World's Business Men Could Force Disarmament, and Relieve Depression

WASHINGTON, May 5 (UP)—President Hoover today called upon world business men to force statesmen to disarm.

The greatest hinderance to economic progress, he told the International Chamber of Commerce in a speech, is taxation wrung from the people so that governments may spend five billion dollars a year supporting their armies.

Pointing his remarks to the general disarmament conference to be held next February, the executive delivered what may be regarded as his most vigorous international message since entering the White House. He said:

"It is within the power of business men of the world to insist that this problem shall be met with sincerity, courage and constructive action. It is within the power of statesmen to give the world a great assurance for the future and a great moral victory for humanity."

Children of Preventorium Plan Program

The boys and girls of the San Mateo Preventorium all of whom are members of the Crow Friendly Indians Tribe of the Young Men's Christian Association, will present a pageant called "The Fire of Friendship Ceremony" in honor of their mothers on next Sunday, starting at 4:30 p. m.

A special invitation is being sent to all of the parents of the members to be on hand for this affair.

A special surprise is being prepared for the club by their leader, R. A. Hohberger.

Hunters Menace World Wild Life

PARIS, May 7 (UP)—The lions, tigers, crocodiles and katydids have a few friends left and during the International Colonial Exposition here this summer a World Congress will seek means of ending the slaughter of wild animals and birds by hunters.

Reports come from Asia and Africa that giraffe, elephant and hippopotamus herds are about half the size of ten years ago. Unless the hunting is restricted the world will be without any wild animal life within a half century.

The delegates will discuss international means of protecting particularly whales, elephants, gazelles, lions and tigers and non-dangerous small animals.

A particular campaign will be directed against the killing of elephants which has increased since ivory prices advanced last year.

M. Albert Leburn, Senator and former Minister of Colonies of France, is chairman, organizing the congress with the aid of Dr. A. Gruvel, M. Maximr Ducrocq, Dr. Thibout and M. Boivin-Champeaux.

BIRD STEALS FISHERMAN'S WORMS FROM TIN CAN

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 7 (UP) — The early bird catches the worm especially when the worm has already been dug from the ground and is waiting for the early bird in an ungarded tin can.

Dr. Leon Hollenbach spent the evening in the garden digging worms in preparation for his annual trip to the streams in quest of trout. The results of the evening's digging were placed in a tin can and left in the garden.

Hollenbach arose with the sun and after dressing hurried to the garden to get the worms. He was just in time to see a robin, probably a believer in the old adage, flying away with the last of the worms dangling from its beak.

High School Plans School Work Display

With a fashion show in the auditorium to start off the program, open house will be held at Sequoia May 22 at 7:45 p. m. Work done by students will be displayed in the rooms, and every room will be open. The display will include art work, miniature stages, and electrical appliances.

A castle set, showing the courtyard, will be built on the stage by the stage crew under the direction of J. Edwin Spence, stage crew director, and the fashion show will be held in the courtyard. Programs will be mimeographed to be distributed to the grammar school students, and a plot of the school will also be available to visitors.

"Everybody is invited, and there is no admission charge," states Miss Marion Hosmer, chairman of the Citizens' Night committee. Among the special guests invited are Miss Pansy J. Abbott, county superintendent of schools; Roy Cloud, secretary of the California Teachers' Association; the presidents of the local service clubs; Mayor Daniel R. Stafford of Redwood City; the education department faculty of Stanford; president of the local chamber of commerce, and students in the administrative classes at Stanford.

POLICE PROPERTY STOLEN

PHEONIX, Ariz. (UP)—Charles Mann, merchant patrolman, parked his bicycle and handcuffs outside while he entered the police station to discuss phases of crime detection. While he was gone a thief stole the bicycle and handcuffs.

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UP)—Two million baby trout which some day will give sportsmen a real battle were born this spring in northern Arizona's two hatcheries and are now being distributed in streams throughout the northern part of the state.

Chevrolet has struck a popular new note in motor-car styling

Chevrolet's front-end ensemble is a fine example of the latest trend in modern design

Many factors have contributed to the remarkably widespread popularity of the new Chevrolet Six. Among these are smooth performance, low price, matchless economy, exceptional riding ease and driving comfort. But no feature has been more strikingly evident in the enthusiastic public reception of the car than its smart new style.

Fisher Body craftsmen, with their background of fine-car designing, have made this new Chevrolet an exceptionally attractive automobile. Study it from any angle and you find it extremely pleasing. Look at it from the front and you are impressed by the modish ensemble of deep radiator, large headlamps and arched tie bar—all gleaming in rich chromium plate. Viewed from the side, the long hood, low-swung body lines, sweeping fenders and massive wire wheels strikingly suggest the car's fleetness and power. And the appeal of Chevrolet's beauty is made more pronounced by the fact that all models are available in a variety of colors.

An important factor in Chevrolet's smart appearance is the de luxe wire wheels with forty steel spokes and massive chrome-plated hub caps

Interiors, too, are unusual in every way. The upholstery is carefully tailored. Seats are roomy, deeply cushioned and invitingly soft. And the interiors are tastefully appointed.

In fact, the new Chevrolet Six is such a thoroughly fine-looking automobile that it has become a very popular choice with every type of buyer. You find it not only the smart family car, but the smart personal car as well—a worthy companion to the expensive automobiles of the two- and three-car household.

BANK CONDUCTS SURVEY OF AGRICULTURAL CONDITIONS

Bank of America Finds Farming Improved in California; Predicts Good Year In Spite of General Business Depression in State

A thorough survey of California land resources, just completed by the Bank of America, indicates a distinct betterment in both the prices and the production future of general major agricultural and horticultural products and a renewed interest in mineral lands and their output.

Improvement has already set in to such an extent that the bank feels justified in stating that "prices on commodities where the product is below normal promise to be better than in 1930." The survey showed that the hop market has stiffened from four to six cents a pound in the past few weeks, bringing this product well over the point where production and marketing cost ends and profit begins; that hay has advanced by two or three dollars a ton in the last thirty days and that there will be an actual shortage in both hay and grain.

The survey sets forts that many buyers of agricultural lands have contacted the banks and finance companies within the past few months, and are appraising the desirable lands actively. These buyers are being given to understand that it is not likely that California agrarian acerage will go any lower in price. Land values apparently have shrunk to the limit, the survey points out. The inflated valuation placed on the inferior land in the state has virtually all disappeared, and all land is about at its true price level.

Oddly enough certain factors of the economic depression, coupled with the shortage of water and the scientific encouragement of volume production, have combined to bring about an actual betterment of conditions in many respects. The prune crop, it is indicated in the survey may be as much as 40 per cent below normal in volume, obviating the market glut that prostrated prices in 1930 and allowing much more latitude for quality production and more promising financial returns. Lack of water may prevent a considerable portion of the peach crop from sizing up as it should, but in every other respect it is expected that the general fruit crop quality will be up to the normal standards. A somewhat shorter grape crop is predicted, due to the vine pulling campaign and shortage of water and to the natural rotation of crops of different degrees of volume. The grape output for the past few seasons has been unusually heavy and a lighter bearing season is now in prospect. The grape leaf hopper has also been more than usually active, and this factor is bound to cut production to some extent.

Both the cotton and the bean acreage have been reduced because of lack of adequate water. In addition the cotton growers have actively engaged themselves with the problem of low-productive land in many instances have cut off this land to develop volume production on their remaining acreage. There will be a big crop of almonds, possibly above normal. The first cutting of hay has all been shipped out of the Imperial Valley and there is very little old hay to be obtained there. The alfalfa output everywhere is moving rapidly, stimulated by a good market.

The observation is made from this survey that agriculture in California is getting on a firmer basis because the holder of the land and the bank or finance company that finance it are beginning to realize the folly of throwing good money after bad in maintaining consistently low producing acreage. Much more remains to be done in this regard, the survey points out. Volume production on the good acreage and the turning over of the low production soil to other uses are the objectives that are being striven for. "Better a good pasture than a poor orchard," is one cogent suggestion that has been set forth in the survey.

While the livestock industry is not responding as well as some of the agricultural and horticultural commodities, the whole situation of land resources justifies the conclusion that conditions are more favorable here than is the case with many of the commodities and operations represented by stock market prices. Any true survey of the land resources situation in California must show many bright spots, and the fact that the present economic depression has forced certain readjustments that are actually resulting in present benefit.

While the bank's approximation of the land situation concerns itself almost solely with agricultural holdings, it was brought to the attention of the institution that renewed inquiry is stimulating the interest in mineral lands, particularly in the well proven holdings.

The facts in the survey were compiled by the agricultural field force of the bank.

Kiwanians Plan 1931-32 Service Work for Clubs

MIAMI, May 6—The value of active Kiwanis clubs in the 1,876 communities in the United States and Canada, and the extent of the social service rendered by these clubs, was explained here today at the 15th annual convention of Kiwanis International.

"Thousands of community and welfare activities have been completed during the past year," declared Raymond M. Crossman, of Omaha, president of the organization. "Kiwanis has more value than mere gathering together for midday receration! The present strong position of the organization is due to the practical assistance to communities and individuals," he said.

Urban-Rural Relations

To better the relationship between the town and country groups, club delegates were urged to have their clubs sponsor stock and grain contests, exhibitions and fairs, and boys' and girls' 4-H work.

Ernest E. Gelhaus, of Webster, S. D., chairman of the international committee on agriculture, suggested that clubs in agricultural communities fill their membership classification with farmers. "Also invite all the rural people to the weekly meetings. Let them come, see, and hear, what Kiwanis is, and what it can do for both the urban and rural communities," he remarked.

Vocational Guidance

In vocational work co-operation was asked of every Kiwanian with those young men and women who might be interested in his business or profession. Robert L. Sumyalt, of Columbia, S. C., directing the committee on vocational guidance, demanded that club members realize their responsibilities to the youth of a community. "Each club should have an active committee on vocational guidance," he told delegates. "Acquire information in regard to the kind of work the world needs to have done, including the requirements, risks, and rewards in each vocation. See to it that young peoole get this information. Kiwanians should likewise encourage students to learn of their own aptitudes, abilities, and interests as they are related to the choice of a vocation. Both the educational authorities and the young people of the community should be informed that local clubs are egar to aid in vocational assistance."

Under-Privileged Child

Raymond V. Kearns, of Salina, Kan., chairman of the international committee on under-privileged child, asked greater participation in personal service to unfortunate children. An under-privileged child is considered by Kiwanis, stated Mr. Kearns, as one who has any kind of a physical, mental, or moral handicap, which prevents normal development. "Seek to enlist each member in some kind of assistance," declared Mr. Kearns. "Personal service should mean a member giving part of his time to council, advise and help a child. Over 90 per cent of all clubs are engaged in child activity, particularly aiding potential manhood and womanhood, by helping those afflicted with suffering and handicaps."

Annual Spring Festival At Sequoia Saturday

Sequoia Girls Who Will Appear in "Winning of Gird"

By GEORGE SCHROEDER

Using an old Norse legend, "The Winning of Gerd," the girls' dancing classes of Sequoia Union high school will present their annual spring festival at 2:30 tomorrow on the Sequoia turf. The theme of the story deals with the origin of the spring season, through the wedding of Frey, god of fertility, and Gerd, daughter of a frost giant.

The results of the election for the May Queen, which took place Wednesday, will not be known until Saturday. Girls nominated for this position were Ester Johnsson, Ruth Paul, Flora Basso, Constance Sorensen, Eileen Paris, Annie Tonich, Marion McLaughlin, and Norma Tibbetts.

For the first time, according to Mrs. Genevieve Robertson, girls' dancing instructor, scenery will be used as a background, the stage crew erecting a castle to be built against the football scoreboard under the direction of J. Edwin Spense, stage crew director, bringing the audience closer to the dancers.

The leads are taken by Valeria Basso, who has the part of Frey; Bessie Lambrook, who portarys the character of the heroine Gerd; Marjorie Short, Frey's favorite warrier; and Alice Graham and Flora Basso, also warriors.

Cubs' Slowness Afoot Annoys Rogers Hornsby

With his Chicago Cubs getting strong pitching and hitting at a steady clip, Manager Rogers Hornsby, it is reported, has but one worry. And that worry is the woeful slowness afoot of his men. The Cubs, according to western experts who have seen the team in action, are the slowest outfit ever to nurture championship aspirations.

The Cubs, as you well know, have been doing quite alright despite this lack of speed, winning more than their share of games and staying well up among the leaders. But had they had a little more speed it seems entirely probable that they would be well in advance of the National parade.

In the first ten games of the season the Cubs were victims of no less than 20 double plays, an amazing number. Most of these two-play killings, the experts agree, should never have come off, being nothing less than gifts from the slow-footed Cub runners.

Grimm and Bell are the leading double-play victims, with "Old Hoss" Stephenson a close third. Hornsby who is never satisfied with anything but baseball perfection, is said to be highly annoyed with the manner in which his men fail to beat the throw to first on balls that ordinarily would go for base hits.

It will be interesting to watch the Cubs when they run against the smooth-working New York Giants infield of Vergez, Jackson, Critz and Terry. Jackson and Critz are wizards at the double killing, even when working against fast men. They should be even more effective when dealing with the lumbering, cumbersome Chicagos.

"Placing" of Flies Pooh-Poohed by Ruth

Babe Ruth, in a chat with this writer a few days ago, pooh-poohed the suggestion that some batters were able to tell with a great deal of accuracy where they were going to hit the ball.

"That's a lot of hooey, nine times out of ten," Ruth said. "All of us just stand up there and swing, letting the ball fall where it may. Of course, there is such a thing as trying to place the ball and sometimes it works, but not often."

The Babe also was highly scornful of the new no-sacrifice ruling.

"The officials must have been asleep when they passed that one. My guess is that 1932 will see the passing of the rule."

CAN BE BEATEN

It's Mr. Bobbie Jones, of course, in the act of making a drive at San Francisco Sunday, a drive, however, which gained him little. Jones, teamed with Leo Diegel against the Dutra brothers, Olin and Mortie, didn't do so well. The Dutras, who hail from Monterey, Cal., took Messrs. Jones and Diegel into camp, 3 and 2.

ROCKNE'S STAR FULLBACK PRAISES OLD COACH

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 7 (UP)—Knute Rockne, "Jumping Joe" Savoldi learned a lot of things besides football.

He told some of them when he appeared here for a wrestling card. Savoldi turned to professional wrestling after Rockne developed him into one of the greatest fullbacks the gridiron has ever known.

"The things we learned under 'Rock' will help us anywhere in life," he summed up. Many of the things have already helped him immeasurably on the mat, he added.

"He won games and built up strong teams because he was a psychologist," Savoldi said. "He depended on brains first and brawn second. If he could get both together, so much the better. If he couldn't, he took his men smart and speedy.

"He treated us like men and not like children. He never nagged or argued. Every man wanted to make the team so badly and to make good on it that he was willing to do any amount of work or undergo any amount of training.

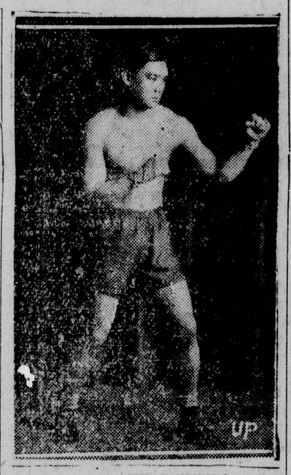
BLUEBLOODS OF HORSEDOM TO ATTEND K. C. MEETING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 7 (UP)—Some of the outstanding blue-blood horses of the country will be brought here for the Riverside Park spring meeting which begins May 9 and continues some 25 racing days.

Among them will be Lamp Black, son of Black Toney-Dregnet , by Rock Sand. He set a new American mark for 170 feet less than six furlongs of 1:07 4-5 at Tanforan last fall. He is included in the string Bruce Johnson will bring to the races.

Other horses in Johnson's stable to be brought here are Thrace, a veteran mud runner, Sambeau, middle distance runner and Book Dennis, 2-year-old.

PROMISING



A bright future is predicted for this Hawaiian boy, Jimmy Ing, who, in addition to giving a good account of himself as fullback on the Weber Mormon College at Ogden, Utah, last year, recently annexed the A. A. U. Intermountain Welterweight Boxing Championship.

Sequoia Loses To Palo Alto by 4-3

By their defeat at the hands of Palo Alto high school, by a score of 4 to 3 on the Sequoia diamond Wednesday afternoon, the Sequoia Union high school 130-pound baseball team lost their chance to win the lightweight Peninsula Athletic League.

The Cherokees got as many hits as the Palyites, but failed to make their runs count. The Indians opened strong in the first inning to score two runs. Shine got safe on third strike, Swanson doubled to score Shine who scored on Pommes' single.

In their half of the second Paly got a man on first and the next knocked a homer to score two runs.

Preader provided a thrill for the fans when he juggled a Paly hit that would have scored two runs on the last out of the fourth inning in left field. Mack of Paly got a triple, but was called out for failing to touch second base.

With the score standing 4 to 2 in the seventh and deciding inning, in Paly's favor, Sequoia loaded the bases with no outs. West the next Cherokee to come to bat was given a walk to score Swanson from third. At this point the Paly pitcher, White bore down and fanned Preader and Getchell, while Ferrell was out in the infield play.

Pitcher Pommes, for Sequoia, allowed eight hits, while White of the Viking 30's granted the same number of hits. White sent eight Cherokees back to the bench via the strikeout route.

By virtue of the defeat the Cherokees are now in second place and will be awarded their circle "S" awards. This was the final game of the season for the Cherokees.

The Sequoia lineup: Pommes, pitcher; Byrd (C), catcher; West, first base; Ferrell, second base; Swanson, short stop; Getchell, third base; Preader, left field; Shine, center field; and Kniveton, right field.

Local Swimmers In Championship Defense This P.M.

Defending their Peninsula Athletic League championship, the Sequoia Union high school varsity swimming team will battle Palo Alto, San Mateo and San Jose in the meet in the Palo Alto pool this afternoon.

Coach Jim Eva will have Frank Goldthwaite, who will give his opponents a tough race in the sprint events for the varsity. Martin will take care of the 220-yard race in which he has made good time this year and unofficially broken the league record several times. He will also swim the Medley relay race in which he has done good work this year.

Jerry Tuxford will swim breast stroke, along with Jim who has recently returned to school. Eaton, who has shown marked improvement during the season will swim the sprints and should give Goldthwaite a close race for honors.

Paly has a strong team this year and will give the strong fortified Cherokees a race for first place. San Jose and San Mateo are not reputed to be strong and will not be a threat to the Vikings or the Cherokees.

Sequoia Boy Gets National Honor

George Schroeder, junior at Sequoia Union high school, was recently adjudged the writer of the best interview submitted in the national awards contest sponsored by the Magazine World, national publication for high school English classes. The news came by Associated Press from Columbus, Ohio.

Nearly a million students were entered in this contest of eighteen divisions, six of which were exclusively journalistic. Out of this large number of entries 1000 winners are to share in the $8500 prize money. Schroeder will not only win a prize but his article will be published in the book entitled. "Best Creative Work in American high schools for 1930-31," which is edited by Quill and Scroll, national honor society for high school journalists.

During the recent election at the high school Schroeder was elected commissioner of publications, and as such will be editor of the Sequoia Times for next year. In addition he has won other awards in journalistic contests held during the past school year.

The story which was submitted in the contest was an interview which Schroeder secured from Dr. Roy Woodhams, missionary visitor to Redwood City last January.

MADISON, Wis., May 7 (UP)—Art. Mansfield, captain of the University of Wisconsin baseball team three years ago, is playing this season with the Bridgeport, Conn., club in the Eastern League. Mansfield's slugging last season with Springfield in the Central League won him a trial with the New York Giants who sent him to Bridgeport for seasoning.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

COUNTY SHOWS INCREASE IN MILK PRODUCE

Steady Growth of Dairying Throughout All of California

By MELVIN LORD

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 7 (UP) —Indictive of the trend toward increased dairying activities in California, San Mateo county produced 1,731,824 pounds of milkfat during 1930.

The popularity of milk and dairy products is shown in a report made by Dr. M. E. McDonald, chief of the bureau of dairy control of the department of agriculture, revealing that the state produced 151,820,016 pounds more than in the preceding year.

"How will you have your dairy products?" asked the producers of the state in marketing their $140,650,

Many must have answered, "Milk," because 131,774,278 gallons of bossy's production went to market in its more or less original state to bring health to the residents of the Golden state.

This part of the production was valued at $27,939,420 according to the state report, with butter ranking second in importance in the list of dairy products.

California's bread must have been well spread during the year, with local producers responsible for 73,-971,786 pounds of butter, or a per capita consumption of 18.46 pounds.

Market cream boosted the total value of the dairy "crop" by $14,-335,500—the value placed on the 7,-389,433 gallons produced in the state.

And among other things, the state produced 9,813,351 pounds of cheese to go with all the crackers that were baked during the year.

The actual value at the farm of all the dairy products totaled $82,-690,000, with every indication that this value in the future will increase steadily to make California the outstanding dairy state in the west.

Despite the fact Los Angeles is considered a metropolitan area, the county has led the state in milkfat production for the last five years. Stanislaus and Merced counties have been fighting it out for second and third place honors, with Stanislaus taking the lead last year. Tulare county has maintained fourth place on the list for many years.

Mexico Assists Border Cleanup

JUAREZ, Mex., May 7 (UP) — A 180-mile sector from Las Palomas to Bosque Bonito is being patrolled by Mexican forces as Mexico co-operates with the United States in a border clean-up campaign.

Some 300 mounted troops were sent here in April to patrol the border, watching for smuggling and halting the illegal operation of saloons along the border. They operate under the command of Gen. Enrique Zertuche.

Saloons, located on border points that are not legal ports of entry and known as "holes in the wall," are being closed.

One of the famous saloons closed is the Fabens, Tex., "Hole-in-the-wall." The place was an attraction for tourists who wished to see where the "tough guys" do their drinking and dancing.

The places are located in Mexico, just within the border, so American officials had no power to close them without the co-operation of Mexican authorities.

Such a plan of co-operation was mapped out between Seymore Lowman, United States assistant secretary of treasury in charge of customs, F. X. Eble, customs commissioner, and Mexican authorities recently in El Paso.

Now the patrols are arresting smugglers as they steal across the border and a great quantity of liquor and narcotics have been seized.

VET DIDN'T KNOW HE HAD BULLET IN LEG 13 YEARS

COLUMBUS, O., May 7 (UP)—For 13 years Carl Ebinger carried a German machine gun bullet in his right leg and did not know it.

It happened during the Meuse-Argonne offensive in the fall of 1918. Ebinger's division, the 37th, was approaching Montfaucon.

As they started across a clearing in the forest the deadly rattle of an enemy machine gun caused them to fall to the ground to escape its fire.

Ebinger was hit three times, he knows now, although at the time he thought he was hit only twice. Doctors removed two slugs.

Years later rheumatism developed. Ebinger applied for compensation and an X-ray was taken. The third bullet was removed from his leg eight inches from where it entered.

Legislative... Sidelights...

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 7 (UP) —Efficiency at the state capital? To be sure. Why only the other day R. W. Robinson, secretary of the Carpenters and Associated Crafts Federated Voters, Los Angeles, wrote to Governor Rolph and asked him to sign assembly bill No. 1913. On April 21 William A. Smith, the governor's private secretary, wrote back and said the petition would be filed until a time "when, and if" the bill was brought to Rolph's desk. Records show the measure was signed by the governor April 9.

The senate clock usually is slow, but the other day it was moved back 80 years. A group of Marysville residents, attired in the picturesque costumes of '49 visited the senate in support of Senator W. P. Rich's invitation to the lawmakers to visit the city during the "gold rush" celebration beginning May 8.

The joke was on him, but Senator Henry E. Carter, Los Angeles, got more fun out of it than anyone. The debate over the sardine bill providing for a decrease in the percentage allowable for fertilizer purposes, was drawing to a close. Senator Sanborn Young, Los Gatos, said: "It must appear odd that I, a northern senator, champion a measure to conserve sardines in southern waters while he," and Senator Young pointed a warning finger at Carter, "is the champion of fertilizer."

The stock market again was flirting with rock bottom prices and two assemblymen were shaking woeful heads. "Look at the price of United States steel and Beth steel." Just than another joined the "wake." "Yeh," said he, "and look at reapportionment 'steal.'"

And speaking of the fitness of things, it seemed quite in order the other day when sardines and oil were the two major problems before the upper house. "A good example of 'slippery politics,'" was the comment of Senator William E. Harper, San Diego.

This informal "filing system" which is the pet of Governor Rolph is assuming major importance as a state problem. His desk, piled high with letters and packages in apparent confusion, is covered with a canvas when the governor goes on state trips. The other day he came back and didn't have time to remove the covering, and a second layer of papers has started. The office has a good high ceiling so perhaps there's nothing to worry about ——yet.

The senate was embroiled in an argument over the resolution by Senator H. C. Jones, San Jose, which would prohibit the issuance of special licenses plates such as those given to legislators and the "R" plates issued by the governor. "What," asked Senator Dan E. Williams, "take away the divine right of monarch to give special favors? Never!"

Week at the Capitol

By MELVIN LORD

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 7 (UP) —The 49th session of the California legislature is approaching the beginning of the end.

With adjournment definitely scheduled for May 15, a "rush order" has been stamped on the major problems before the lawmakers, and the still crowded files of the senate and assembly indicate a "painless" death for many of the routine measures.

The action of the assembly in killing the anti-hanging bill of Assemblyman William B. Hornblower, San Francisco, removed temporarily at least, one of the most controversial subjects of the session.

The question of capital punishment, however, still is evident in other bills on which action has not as yet been taken. Proponents of the plan to abolish the gallows are seeking passage of a proposal to have the question submitted to the voters in 1932. Another phase of the problem has been called to the attention of the lawmakers by Senator Charles H. Deuel, Chico, who introduced a bill seeking to substitute the lethal gas chamber for the hangman's noose.

This measure has been given a "do pass" recommendation by the senate committee on revision of criminal law, and is expected to be the center of a heated debate in the upper house.

Continued failure of opposing factions to reach an agreement concerning the proposed co-ordinated state water plan lends strength to the belief that Governor Rolph will call a special session of the legislature late in July or early in August to thresh out the question which represents one of the state's most vital problems.

Representatives of the upper Sacramento valley area continued in their belief that the proposed expenditure of $175,000,000 for a series of dams and diversion unites is too costly; that it will lead to the recognition of state over riparian rights, and will result in assessments against property already carrying a heavy tax burden.

Another phase of the water question also must be settled by the legislature. Two important bills permitting the re-financing of irrigation districts through a new securities commission, and providing $2,-000,000 revolving fund to aid the districts endangered by a dry year, are awaiting action in the senate. Both measures are favored by irrigation leaders and California bankers.

As a result of committee action, the legislature may see fit to make California divorce more liberal, although there is no attempt to follow the lead set by Nevada. However, a bill by Senator George W. Rochester, Los Angeles, providing for the abolition of the interlocutory divorce decree, was recommended for passage by the senate judiciary committee.

Passage of the bill would enable Californians to get a final divorce immediately, inasmuch as the one-year delay between the interlocutory and final decrees would be abolished. The bill does not alter the requirement of one year's residence in the state before action can be instituted in court.

Two bills aimed at the steadily mounting school costs appear to be assured of passage. One measure providing for the publication of school budgets has passed the senate. Another bill by Senator Ray R. Ingels, Ukiah, would provide a special board to hear protests against school budgets. The measure has received committee approval.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7 (UP)— Bruce Bairnsfather, who succeeded in making people laugh during and immediately after the war, thinks that Americans and the rest of the world should surely be able to muster a smile, or snicker, or grin or something during their business troubles.

Making a lecture tour, Bairnsfather, who created the character of "Old Bill" in his series of cartoons and story of "The Better 'Ole," ness men and to give an infallible ness men and togive an infallible prescription for a life in spite of depression and falling stock markets and such things.

Bairnsfather is telling the experiences of Old Bill since the war in his current tour.

City Manager

"A yacht harbor has been developed on city property consisting of a clubhouse now under a ten-year lease, together with moorings to accommodate some thirty water craft and other facilities. This development, omitting land values, is producing a revenue equivalent to approximately 12 per cent on the city's investment. In addition to this the indirect benefit being received in the way of advertising is of considerable value to the city.

"Our water supply has just recently been practically doubled by the development of two new wells on the O'Dea and Cainine properties which have been equipped with the most modern automatic pumping machinery. While this addition to the water department represents a capital outlay of some $17,500, it is estimated that the saving created by the difference between pumping costs and what the same amount of water purchased from the Spring Valley Water Company would have cost at prevaling rates will return this investment to the city treasury in a period of one year.

"While our assessed valuation has remained practically constant these improvements have been made notwithstanding the fact that the tax rate last year was reduced from $1.39 to $1.30 per $100 of assessed valuation, and the business license tax also substantially diminished.

"While many other improvements are needed in order to keep up with the natural growth of the city and provide service in accordance with the present requirements of the public and prepare for the immediate future every effort is being made to finance these capital expenditures without increasing the present tax rate on the theory that additional assessed values should at least provide interest and redemption on bonds for all capital outlays after having been approved by the voters. More space at the city hall in order to centralize the various departments which are now located at various parts of the city and provide adequate space and facilities for those departments already congested is highly desirable in the event the public is to be economically and efficiently served in keeping with modern practice. Some other departments too are in need of better facilities requiring capital expenditures. The acquisition of additional sites for park and recreational purposes for the future together with the proper development and maintenance of those now existing call for additional finances, all of which in my judgment as far as possible should be provided by bond issue and paid for over a period of years in order to relieve the present financial burden and assess at least some of these costs to the coming generation who will be equally benefited.

"Summing the whole matter up I believe that the system has been reasonably successful which has been largely due to the spirit of cooperation received from all organizations and the public in general without which no form of government can properly function."

It was decided to hold another dinner for the freeholders next year, the arrangement for the reunion to be again left in the hands of A. S. Liguori.

Those present at the affair Wednesday night were Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. George W. McNulty, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. Percy E. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Choate, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Kalenborn, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Witte, Mrs. Nelle L. Miramontes, Mr. Charles G. Lambert, Mr. Phil E. Brand, Mr. A. Members of the freeholder body who were unable to be present were Mr. Clarence Doxsee and Mr. Thomas Tuite.

HUSBAND SEEKS DIVORCE

Charging that his wife, Helen E. McAlister, left him and their 5-year-old daughter, stating she cared nothing for either him or for the child, Ray McAlister, San Bruno, this week began suit for divorce from his wife. The San Bruno man asks a divorce and the sole custody of the little girl. The couple was married in Sacramento in 1924, and separated in April of this year. He is represented in his action by Attorney Rudolph Rapsey, of San Bruno.

Indicted

Nicely, top, former Washington state supervisor of savings and loan associations, who is charged with grand larceny in connection with the failure of the Puget Sound Savings & Loan Association at Seattle. Lower, Adolph Linden, former president of the defunct association, who was charged with grand larceny in five indictments returned by a Seattle grand jury. More than 27,000 shareholders were affected in the failure.

New Process Cuts Time for Huge Mirror

Giant Observatory Reflector Will Be Ready in Three Years

PASADENA, Calif., May 7 (UP)—A new process in the manufacture of reflectors from pulverized quartz will enable the new observatory at the California Institute of Technology to be ready for scientific use within the next two or three years, according to officials of the university.

The observatory, when completed, will have an astral telescopic range 30 times greater than that of Mount Wilson observatory, at present the largest in the world.

By a process of fusing pulverized quartz into a perfect mirror the manufacturing of a reflector for the institute's observatory has been reduced from 15 years to five.

Those supervising the plans for the new observatory have been authorized to announce that every essential problem involved in producing a 54,000 pound reflector for the telescope has been solved.

Experimented With Smaller Ones

In order to make this reflector two smaller quartz reflectors had to be manufactured so that imperfections that might possibly occur in the finished work could be avoided.

By studying the building up of the smaller ones, experts in charge of the construction of the 200-inch reflector said they expected to avoid imperfections in the larger one.

The problems facing those manufacturing the test mirrors were difficult. A twenty-two inch mirror was first attempted.

Molecules of melted quartz were sprayed continuously on a disc inside a fiery furnace, where the heat was one-third as great as that of the sun.

When the quartz coating was five-eights of an inch thick the cooling process was started. This had to be done slowly, a degree at a time. The annealing took two weeks.

The experiment was declared a success and provided quartz smelters with the knowledge necessary to attempt a reflector on an even larger scale.

First Test

The next test was in the manufacturing of a 66 inch mirror. This work called for a much larger furnace, a greater degree of heat and 225 times the quantity of quartz.

The advantage in using the quartz process is that the annealing is much quicker. A 200-inch mirror made of glass would take nine years to cool, it was stated. In addition to this the pouring of glass and the final grinding and polishing would make the period of construction about 15 years.

The quartz mirror for the California Institute of Technology is expected to be completed within two or three years when the observatory will be ready for its installation."
